A word from…Revd Sophie Ferguson, Assistant Curate

As we come to Remembrance Sunday, I wanted to share with you a poem found by a committee member at the memorial hall and we will hear it read aloud. This poem was placed in the Salisbury newspaper by a young widow one year after hearing of the death of her new husband. Widow Nellie Stokes poem 1917 (adapted):

The years have passed and still we miss them
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
Deep within the heart concealed
We often sit and think of them
When we are all alone
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own
Like ivy on the withered oak
All other things decay
But our love for them will e'er keep green
And never fade away

In our prayers, please pray for…
